excerpt from principles of english composition through analysis and synthesis a text book for the senior classes of elementary schools and for pupil teachers as a means of teaching composition and the principles that govern sentence structure analysis of sentences has completely broken down and become outside the teaching profession entirely discredited pupils parse and parse analyse and analyse for years of their school life and in the end are ignorant of what constitutes a good sentence and wholly without ability to write one the cause of this unsatisfactory result is not i think difficult to discover the parsing of single words however well done can be made to bear only on the syntax of single words quite a trifle in sentence structure analysis however includes single words phrases and clauses the whole mechanism of the sentence however complex and of course ought to bear on the syntax of the whole mechanism but unfortunately it has been made by the books to concern itself only with breaking down and classifying its sole aim has been to dismember the sentence and to place the disjecta membra under their appropriate headings this is all very well from the point of view that decomposition and classification are the sole end of grammar but ought they to be so regarded is not synthesis as important as analysis is it not necessary that the young student should be trained not only to decompose and classify but also to compose that is to arrange words phrases and clauses in their most effective setting about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works excerpt from modern practice in the teaching of composition in preparing these chapters my hope has been to offer suggestions which might be immediately useful to every teacher of composition there are many admirable studies of the arts of speaking and writing many useful texts in composition for the children but few books which deal with the teacher s problems in presenting the subject as it becomes daily more obvious that boys and girls are to be taught to speak and write not indirectly by the study of grammar but directly by the practice of composition it is increasingly important that solutions for some of these problems be found if the principles enunciated and the suggestions made here point out the way to any teacher they will have justified themselves i wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to the women teachers club of the city of edmonton for whom these lectures were originally prepared and in whose interest the book was begun and also to mr g f mcnelly without whose encouragement and advice it would never have been finished about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works excerpt from the progressive composition lessons vol 1 third and fourth years in the lower grades teachers have been confused by the wealth of material both in composition and in language work that is presented in the text books in the upper grades teachers have experienced great difficulty in getting models of true literary excellence which appeal to the pupils in order to assist in these two particulars the progressive composition lessons have been prepared each lesson has grown out of classroom work covering a number of years and no lesson has been included that has not stood the test of actual classroom experience the aim has been to give the child power to express him self readily and clearly the method is essentially inductive each week s work consists of three lessons in general these lessons are divided into i the preparatory oral work which must be thorough ii the written composition iii the cor rection exercise which affords the teacher and the pupils opportunity to correct expression the illustrative compositions in the appendix of the teachers edition have been taken directly from pupils work grateful acknowledgments are made to the teachers of public school no 184 manhattan for the intelligent and helpful assistance rendered by them in the development of the lessons about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works at the request of friends i have prepared this short text book outlining the method of carrying forward the course and emphasizing the principles necessary for the intelligent communication of ideas it has not been the purpose to write a rhetoric the many fine distinctions and divisions the rarefied examples of very beautiful forms of language which a young pupil cannot possibly reproduce or even appreciate have been omitted to teach the methods of simple direct and accurate expression has been the purpose and this is all that can be expected of a high school course in english the teaching of composition differs from the teaching of latin or mathematics in this point whereas pupils can be compelled to solve a definite number of problems or to read a given number of lines it is not possible to compel expression of the full thought the full thought is made of an intellectual and an emotional element whatever is intellectual may be compelled page iv by dint of sheer purpose whatever is emotional must spring undriven by outside authority and un-compelled by inside determination a boy sees a cord of wood because he has been commanded by his father but he cannot laugh or cry because directed to do so by the same authority there must be the conditions which call forth smiles or tears so there must be the conditions which call forth the full expression of thought both what is intellectual and what is emotional this means that the subject shall be one of which the writer knows something and in which he is interested that the demands in the composition shall not be made a discouragement and that the teacher shall be competent and enthusiastic inspiring in each pupil a desire to say truly and adequately the best he thinks and feels excerpt from writing in english a modern school composition it may be well before passing to the next heading to direct attention also to the frequent employment through out the book of the inductive method in the presentation of new points it is strongly recommended that the teacher by multiplying illustrations before calling for a principle proceed in this method to a far greater extent than is possible in a text book of strictly limited size about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works excerpt from composition for elementary schools a composition grammar the same principles of grammar are sometimes treated in both books but on different levels this difference of level is of itself sufficient explanation of the repetitions but there remains another reason the positive need of doing the same thing again and again in order to fix it in the pupil s intelligence and to make it automatic in his use of language about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works this book is in no respect an addition to the already large number of rhetorics and other works on the theory and mysteries of style it is strictly a manual for school work and has been made with special reference to the rational remodeling recently accomplished or now in the way of being accomplished in the courses of study in our public schools a remodeling in which language training for the first time receives the attention that is its due it is believed that inquiring teachers will find it in harmony with their views and aims it has seemed that there is need of a school manual of prose composition of medium size arranged on a simple and natural plan and designed not to teach the theory of style and criticism but to give schoolchildren between the ages of twelve and fifteen a fair mastery of the art of writing good english for the ordinary uses of life such 1b the present book it is believed that the books now form a closely connected series embodying a progressive course of development the outlines of which may be thus set forth 1 language primer mainly practice 2 new language lessons theory and practice i e grammar and composition in about equal proportions 3 new english grammar and new school composition the two studies differentiated but simultaneously pursued to the thousands of teachers who gave the language series a reception exceptional in the history of textbooks the new language series is submitted as being more worthy of their acceptance and a nearer approach to their ideal a complete composition course for beginning and low intermediate level students of english as a second language adult and young adult this text offers a unique approach interweaving structured writing with free composing
